Water-Sewer Debenture Issue Sold; Construction Work Will Start Soon

Total Issue Sold To James Richardson & Sons at $97.57

The Town of Vulcan's total debenture issue of $173,000.00 to provide for the installation of water and sewer systems has been sold to James Richardson & Sons of Calgary at a price of $97.57 per $100.00. The issue is of 4½%, one to twenty-five years serial debentures.

Other bids for various parts of the total issue were received from other investment firms, but it was the unanimous decision of the town council to accept the Richardson offer for the total issue. Local residents of the town and district will be given an opportunity to purchase the debentures through the Calgary investment firm.

Selling of the debentures has now cleared the way for construction work to proceed and the contractors, Dominion Construction Co. of Winnipeg are expected to begin work in the very near future.

Bridal Shower For Mary Douglass

Miss Mary Douglass, popular bride-elect of the Berrywater district, was the guest of honor on two occasions in the past week.

On Friday afternoon last some 60 ladies of the Berrywater community gathered at the home of Mrs. Wilson Oldfield to tender Mary a miscellaneous shower and to wish her and her husband to-be every happiness in their life together. Mrs. Margaret Richardson, Mrs. Bertie Oldfield, Mrs. N. E. Budd, Miss Betty Smith, Mrs. Doug Smith and Mrs. Alan Smith were conveners and attended to all details.

The program, consisting of a musical contest, outlined the Romance of Mary and Vernal, in which the guests supplied missing words, with the suggestion of a song title. A "shotgun wedding" then took place, with the bride being escorted into the room by a very irate father, (Betty Smith) complete with shotgun. The balky bride was tied up and the "ceremony" performed by the pseudo preacher, (Mrs. Roy McIntrye), with the quaking groom, (Mrs. Doug. Smith) making squeaky responses. Mrs. Budd presided at the piano. Following the "ceremony" a halter was put on the guest of honor and she was led to a daintily decorated "throne", under an arch of pink and white streamers, and clusters of lilac leaves. She was then presented with a huge decorated box, filled with many beautiful and useful gifts for her new home. Assisting Mary in opening the attractively wrapped parcels was one of the the bridesmaids-elect, Miss Gladys Mainland. The bride-to-be very graciously thanked her friends for their many kind gestures, and extended to them an invitation to visit her when she was settled. The serving of a delicious lunch by the ladies brought to a conclusion a most happy afternoon.

Mrs. Ivan Haga, Miss Ruth Hanna and Mrs. Bennie Dann were joint hostesses at a bridal shower, held at the Percy Clark home in Vulcan, on Monday evening, when some twenty young friends of the youthful bride-elect were present.

By way of entertainment the guests were required to make small crepe paper model hats for the bride, with some truly astonishing results. Much merriment resulted from the reading aloud by one of the hostesses, of verses about the guest of honor written by those present during the course of the evening. Miss Hanna then presented Mary with a beautifully decorated basket and asked that she accept the gifts, with which the basket was heaped. The bride, her mother and the mother of the bride-groom-elect were seated earlier in the evening, in decorated seats, and the mothers assisted Mary in opening the daintily wrapped parcels. The guest partook of a dainty lunch following the opening of the gifts.

Slight Damage At Monday Fire

The fire brigade was called into action Monday afternoon when a grass fire, presumably started by burning brown paper blown from an incinerator, spread to a shingle-covered shack behind the Imperial Oil office.

The alarm was turned in by Ed. Nelson and the fire brigade was quickly on the scene and soon had the blaze extinguished. Damage was limited to about $25.

A word of praise should be extended to the operators at the telephone exchange, who have been doing a very efficient job in quickly notifying all members of the fire department when an alarm is turned in. With the fire siren at the town hall still out of order, the operators have been responsible for the quick response to fire alarms and they have been doing an excellent job.

Research Lab Is Aim Cancer Drive

The Canadian Cancer Society Campaign, now under way in district, is asking the support of every citizen.

Cancer research will take a long and progressive step forward in the province if present plans for the setting up of complete cancer research facilities are successful.

An entirely new feature of the 1948 campaign will be setting aside of funds toward the establishment of a cancer research laboratory. Discussions are now underway with University of Alberta officials with this end in view.

The elimination of cancer from the list of diseases that annually kills so many of our citizens is a task of considerable magnitude, although considerable headway has been made. The Canadian Cancer Society, in the few years of its existence, has contributed much in the way of funds for research, service and financial aid to cancer sufferers, and education of the general public in recognition of symptoms so that cures may be obtained while the disease is still in its early stages.

The support of the public should be given this campaign so that the work of the Society can not only be maintained but extended still further.

About 40 gallons of water are used by each person in the home every day.

Interesting Meeting Good Deeds W.I.

The Goods Deeds W. I. meeting was held at the home of Mrs. E. E. Andrews on Oct. 14th with with 20 members and one visitor present. Mrs. Irwin acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Wilson.

One minute silence was held in honor and memory of the late Mrs. Jessie Andrews.

Mrs. Robt. Irwin read several different articles on Science.

Mrs. McMasters read a few extracts from Dist. No. 4 Conference report.

The ladies were asked to bring used clothing to the next meeting to be sent to Europe.

It was decided to donate a book called Bambi to the Alston school.

A fine lot of handicraft work was on display, convened by Mrs. Etta Clark.

Several gifts were given, one to Mrs. Dale Campbell, a baby spoon was given to Baby Jessie Andrews and one to Baby Brian Smith.

Also a gift was given each to Mrs. Mosby and two children who are leaving shortly for a six months visit in England.

Roll Call of School Recollections was answered by all.

Lunch was served by the hostess and Mrs. Merle Smith and Mrs. Harry Smith assisted by Mrs. Charles Campbell.

The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Robt. Irwin Jr.

Grieg-Middleton Wedding, Cayley

A quiet wedding of interest locally was solemnized Tuesday, Oct. 5th., at the Cayley United Church, when Marion Leslie, only daughter of Mrs. E. P. McCurdy, Grand Prairie, and Mr. L. Middleton, Calgary, was united in marriage with William Andrew Grieg, son of Mrs. E. M. Grieg, Nanton, Rev. John Wood offiating.

The bride was attired in a grey gabardine suit, with which she wore white accessories. She was attended by Miss Louise Crellin, who also wore grey. Mr. R. Souter was the best man. The young couple will make their home on the groom's farm in the Nanton district, following a short honeymoon in the northern part of the province.

Mr. Way said that advance orders would be filled promptly in any quantities if sent to him, care of the T.B. Christmas Seal Office, High River, and that they will be sent by first class mail, prepaid.

Town Asks For Removal of Fire-damaged McLaggan Building

Matter Discussed At regular Council Meeting

At the regular October meeting of the town council, the matter of the McLaggan & Manson building, which was badly damaged by fire some months ago and has stood vacant ever since, was discussed. Although the building has been condemned, the owners have taken the stand that it is repairable and the result has been a deadlock. The site on which the building stands is one of the most desirable business locations in town. To force some action, council has now decided to apply for a mandatory court order to have the building removed, on the grounds that it constitutes a fire hazard as it now stands.

BUILDING PERMITS

Building permits approved at the meeting were as follows: O. O. Donily, $150 furnace room addition to business premises; W. J. Shaver, $300 addition to residence; Roger Middleton, $4500 residence; A. G. Saxby, $300 addition to residence.

GRASS FIRES

The council decided by motion that when the town man is burning off lots the fire engine will stand by whenever deemed necessary by the town man. No grass fires are to be started in the town unless they are supervised by the town man. The heavy grass growth this year constitutes a definite fire hazard and if fires are properly supervised damage to buildings will be prevented.

APPOINT COMMITTEE

Mayor Allan and Councillors McAskile and Saxby were appointed a committee to decide the site of the sewage disposal plant.

The Weather

Perfect fall weather has precaied this week, with warm, calm days and cool nights.

Lorna Robson Elected Queen Of Elks' Carnival

Close Race Between Four Contestants In Popular Feature

Climaxing a successful three-day carnival, Miss Lorna Robson was crowned queen of the Elks' fall carnival Saturday night by Mr. L. F. Dawson, the official judge. With four candidates in the running, it was a close contest that saw Miss Robson, who was sponsored by the Canadian Legion, emerge the winner. She receives an all-expense two weeks vacation at the Pacific Coast as her award and the other candidates—Lorraine French (High School), Shirley Wolfe (Elks Lodge) and Lois Mensinger (Lions Club)—each received a ring as a gift from the Elks.

Capably directed by Floyd Atkinson, assisted by Gordon Clayton as secretary, and with the assistance of members of the Elks Lodge and Lions Club and their wives, the carnival was very successful in its objective of raising funds for further work on the Elks Memorial Park.

Six door prizes were given away each night and the grand prize of a Bulova wrist watch was won by Mrs. Dora Middleton of Vulcan.

In an exhibition of registered wheat, held in conjunction with the carnival, the entry of Glen Graham was awarded first prize, with Donald Marshman second and Darrell Maisey third.

PHOTOMICROGRAPHY FILM

It takes a delicate camera and microscope to capture the inside secrets of a puff of smoke, a leaf, or a drop of water in the religious-scientific film, "The God of Creation." Here Dr. Irwin A. Moon, of Moody Institute of Science, gets ready for a unique scene in the sound-color film, to be shown at 8:00 p.m., Tuesday Oct. 26," in the Champion Gospel Mission.

Reid Hill W.I. On Film Council

The first meeting of the Reid Hill W. I. since June was held at the home of Mrs. P. Bowie, Thursday, October 14th, with sixteen members present. The reason for the long lapse in meetings was due to rain, and the exceptionally busy harvest season. Repeating of the Creed and Salute to the Flag opened the meeting, after which the secretary, Mrs. Marshall, read the minutes of the last meeting. Much correspondence was dealt with, including a letter of appreciation from the family in the Old Country, which the branch has "adopted"; a request that members be sure to submit their thumb-nail sketches for the history of the W. I. to be compiled notes of thanks for flowers and cards sent.

Roll Call was answered with, "My Favorite Tree, Flower and Bird". A committee was named to attend to packing and sending of another parcel overseas. This one will be made up entirely of clothing and it is requested that all members who wish to contribute will please leave their parcels at the King Drug Store by Saturday, October 23.

Mrs. Sales reported on the recent setting up of a Film Council, in Vulcan, by the National Film Board, and asked if the branch wished to become a member. After a discussion, in which the members showed considerable interest in the plan, Mrs. F. J. Mensinger and Mrs. Del Thomas were appointed to represent Reid Hill.

The branch again signified its interest in the current Cancer Campaign and offered to assist in the canvass for funds in the rural points.

A white-elephant sale, with Mrs. Mensinger acting as a most capable auctioneer, was participated in by all present, and was much enjoyed. A very satisfactory sum was realized from the sale of the many articles donated by the members.

Several orders were placed for Christmas cards, to be delivered in the near future.

The afternoon concluded with the serving of a dainty and delicious lunch.

Chris McDonald, District Pioneer, Dies at Calgary

One of the earliest settlers of the Vulcan district, Christopher McIntosh (Chris) McDonald, aged 83, died in Calgary on Thursday, October 14.

Born in Manitoba, Mr. McDonald was a noted rider of the early days, when he rode for the Burns ranches. He was a veteran of the Riel Rebellion of 1885. He came to the Vulcan district early in the century and homesteaded five miles south-west of the present site of Vulcan. He was a member of the Vulcan Masonic Lodge and Samaritan Lodge, I.O. O.F., and held offices in both lodges.

Retiring from farming in 1925, Mr. McDonald moved to Calgary and resided there ever since. Predeceased by his wife some years ago, he is survived by two sons and two daughters. Funeral services and interment took place at Calgary on Oct. 16th.

Chris McDonald will always be well remembered by the old-timers of this district and the sympathy of his many friends here is extended to his sons and daughters.

Shoquist Construction Company Awarded $93,000 Contract For Addition To Municipal Hospital

Modern Wing Will Provide Extra Beds And Much Needed Other Facilities

A contract for the sum of $93,482.00 has been awarded to Shoquist Construction Western Ltd. of Calgary for an addition to the Vulcan Municipal Hospital and for alterations to the existing building. The contract was let to the Calgary construction firm at a meeting of the Hospital Board held last Saturday and work is to commence immediately on the signing of the contract and is to be completed within one year.

Shoquist Construction has just finished building new hospitals at Blairmore and Pincher Creek and is building the new civic centre at Lethbridge. The company is ready to start work here immediately and, weather permitting, hope to have the basement in before the end of the year.

$60,000 of the cost of the big project will be met by the issuing of debentures, the necessary by-law having passed with a big majority in April, 1947. The Dominion-Provincial Grant for hospital construction will provide another $30,000, and the balance will be provided from the Vulcan Municipal Hospitals District's reserve funds.

The hospital's reserve funds are sufficient to fully complete construction, outside of furnishing the wards, and local organizations are already planning to supply the necessary ward furnishings.

Modern X-Ray and Lab

The new L-shaped wing which will be added is about 1¼ times the size of the present building. It will provide an additional 14 beds. The original hospital was designed for 15 beds but has had to handle many more patients than that number on occasion, with resultant overcrowding.

Lack of adequate X-ray and laboratory facilities in the present hospital has been keenly felt and this condition will be corrected with the building of the new wing. Provision has been made for fully-equipped X-ray room with the very latest and most modern X-ray equipment, which is now on order.

The laboratory will be fully equipped to give up-to-date laboratory service, eliminating the necessity to have most of this work done in Edmonton, as it is at present.

Besides the new technical facilities which will be provided by the new wing, there will be a children's ward, an isolation suite, a waiting room, a doctors' lounge with shower, a matron's office and a general office.

Living quarters for the domestic staff will be provided in the basement.

When the new hospital wing is completed and new equipment installed, Vulcan will have one of the most modern and up-to-date hospitals of any town in the province, and will provide hospital service comparable to the larger city hospitals.

NEW HIGHWAY ROUTE NOT DECIDED

Reliable information received by the Advocate this week indicates that, despite stories to the contrary, the new route of No. 23 highway from Vulcan to High River has not yet been determined.

Published reports, including a story we carried last week, have said that the old Sunshine Trail route would be followed. Our latest information is that the route has not yet been decided and that it might possibly lead to Vulcan through Brant and Ensign. At any rate, no decision in the matter will be made until spring.

Machinery and crews now working on the Sunshine Trail out of High River are expected to do five or six miles of the road-rebuilding job before freezeup forces a halt.

DANGEROUS HERESY

(From Printed Word)

Mr. Ludger Dionne, a Liberal member of Parliament from Quebec, would have created a sensation in the House of Commons on the last day of the 1948 Session, if there had been enough members in the House who could follow a French speech, or more than a handful of members at all. What he said months ago is still good.

Mr. Dionne was criticising the proceedings of the Prices Committee. In particular, he wanted to know why, when the Committee had some labor leaders before it, it had not undertaken to ask them some serious questions about the cause of high prices. He said, for example, that they might have been asked about the case of bricklayers, who, he said, now lay 350 bricks a day, for which they receive $1.20 to $1.50 per hour, when a few years ago they laid between 1,000 and 1,200 bricks a day for 60 cents per hour. Mr. Dionne seemed to think that this might have something to do with the cost of building.

If this sort of thing continues Parliament is going to be an unpleasant sort of place. If a parliamentary committee is expected to ask questions which might annoy organized labor the situation will become disagreeable indeed. Mr. Dionne should have known better. If he goes on asking questions of this type, voters in Canada might be encouraged to think.

Winterize The Garden

The annual preparation for winter of most things surrounding mankind in these parts are taken for granted. Winterizing the garden probably receives the least specialized attention of any, the reason being either a lack of knowing the right steps to take or not knowing the necessity of so doing. To overcome the lack of proper procedure the horticultural staff of the Experimental Station at Lethbridge has for years experimented with various methods of winterizing the garden and it is now possible to give specific information for Southern Alberta conditions. As it is only possible to include a few of these recommendations here, those seeking more detailed information should write to the Experimental Station at Lethbridge.

The garden should be covered with well rotted manure and then fall plowed. That insures excellent fertility and tilth the following season.

Roses, especially the hybrid teas and other tender types, that are not dug up and placed in the root cellar should be mounded up with moist soil to at least two-thirds of the distance up the plant. The plants should not be covered entirely as they suffocate easily and die.

Chrysanthemums that have not proven their hardiness in this area should be covered with enough straw or similar insulating material so as to hold the snow or frost during mild spells in the winter.

Small fruits such as strawberries and raspberries need some attention before winter sets in. The strawberries should be covered with a deep layer of straw or similar plant protectant after the first fall of snow or when the ground is frozen. Raspberries also require covering. Just prior to covering, the canes that fruited this year and the surplus new canes should be removed leaving only six or seven canes to a hill. When pruning is completed the remaining canes are bent over a big shovel full of soil along the of the row, and completely covered with moist soil. Straw can be used to cover the raspberries if a shovel full of soil is placed on the tips of the canes to hold them down.

As a final recommendation, covering of the lawn with a good compost material will insure a richer more beautiful lawn next season. This compost should be worked into the lawn during the mild spells in the winter.

First Aid Hints for Dislocations and Bruises

DISLOCATIONS:

A dislocation is the displacement of one or more of the bones of a joint. The joints most frequently dislocated are those of the shoulder, elbow, thumb, fingers and lower jaw.

SIGNS AND SYMPTOMS:

1. Pain of a severe sickening character at or near the joint.
2. Loss of power in the joint.
3. Fixity of the joint. The limb cannot be moved at the joint either by the patient of by the First-Aider.
4. Deformity of the limb. The limb assumes an unnatural position, and is mis-shapen at the joint.
5. Swelling about the joint.

TREATMENT

MAKE NO ATTEMPT TO REDUCE A DISLOCATION.

1. Steady and support the limb in the position which gives most ease to the patient, using padding where necessary in order to lessen the effects of jolting during transportation.
2. Rest the patient on a couch or bed in the position which gives most ease.
3. If the pain is severe, expose the injured part and apply a cold compress.
4. When cold ceases to give comfort, apply a hot compress.

BRUISES:

A blow anywhere on the surface of the body may cause extensive capillary haemorrhage beneath the skin, without breaking it — a "black eye" is an instance. The injury is accompanied by discoloration and swelling.

Racher-Lomheim Wedding Rites

A pretty autumn wedding, uniting members of two pioneer families of the Champion district, was solemnized in St. Augustin's Church, Lethbridge Friday, Oct. 15th, at four o'clock p.m. when Miss LaQuita Joy Lomheim exchanged marriage vows with William Raymond Racher.

Reverend Leslie L. Grant read the marriage lines for the only daughter of Mrs. Esther Ferguson of Lethbridge and the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Racher, before an altar banked with bridal mums and lighted cathedral tapers in tall standard candlelabra.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. Adam Ferguson of Champion, the bride was gowned in a classic model of white satin with sweetheart neckline, long lily point sleeves and tiny self covered buttons down the back of the long basque bodice. Matching satin formed panniers on the slightly en train length skirt. Her full length veil of embroidered illusion net cascaded from a tiara of cut crystals and seed pearls and she carried a white Prayer Book topped with orchids and streamers. The groom's gift of an aquamarine and diamond pendant, was her only jewelry.

The bride's mother and aunt, Mrs. Ferguson and Mrs. J. Fath, respectively, attended as matrons of honor. The former's formal gown of orchid taffeta featured a basque bodice and panniers with bouffant net skirt, her picture hat of pink mohair was flower trimmed and she carried an arm bouquet of deep pink roses. Long lace mittens completed her costume. Mrs. Fath chose a model of coral pink sheer with long bishop sleeves an inset girdle trimmed with trapunte embroidery and floor length skirt, her hat was also a mohair model. Mauve and white mums and carnations formed her bouquet.

Miss Patricia Watts, as bridesmaid, was gowned in a floor length model of pale blue satin with long torso bodice, small covered buttons down the back, long fitted sleeves and featuring an inset yoke of chenille brocaded nylon and bouffant skirt.

Her leghorn garden hat was trimmed with tiny pink and white flowers, pale blue tulle loops and long streamers of blue satin ribbon. She carried a bouquet of white baby mums and pink carnations.

Little Lana Racher, niece of the groom, made a dainty flower girl frocked in a floor length dress of pale blue satin with puff sleeves, square neckline outlined with white silk lace, the skirt was caught up with a white satin bow at the front hemline to reveal an underskirt of ruffled lace. She wore a garland of pink rosebuds in her hair and carried a Colonial bouquet of mixed blossoms from which fell streamers of pink ribbon.

Mr. R. Glenn Racher attended his brother and Mr. J. Fath, uncle of the bride, and Mr. A. Bjornson, brother-in-law of the groom, ushered the guests to the pews marked with white satin bows.

During the signing of the register, Miss Elaine Granlin, of Champion, frocked in a floor length gown of white moire accented with inset net yoke and puff sleeves, long white gloves and halo headdress, sang "O Perfect Love" accompanied at the organ by Reverend Victor Smith.

The pealing of the church bells during the recession added much to the solemnity of the occasion.

A profusion of cut flowers were used throughout the ball room of the Marquis Hotel where the reception was held following the ceremony. The bridal party were assisted in receiving the guests by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. A. Ferguson and the mother of the groom. The former chose a black with white trim ensemble, matching hat and black accessories completed with a corsage of pink roses while Mrs. Racher wore an afternoon frock of black white check silk jersey, small black hat and accessories, her corsage was also of pink roses.

"Brown's" Orchestra rendered musical selections throughout the reception and Mrs. V. Ferguson of Ponoka, was in charge of the guest register. The bride's table was centred with a three tiered wedding cake embedded in a circle of smilax and mauve mums flanked by tall white tapers in crystal holders and cases of mauve and white baby mums. Mrs. H. Ferguson and Mrs. T. P. Carlson shared honors at the urns and assisting in serving the 130 guests were, Mrs. E. Rhodes, Mrs. L. Harvie, Mrs. E. Fraser Mrs. W. Green, Mrs. P. Edgar, Mrs. H. M. Marshman, Mrs. Otto Hagg and Miss Audrey Maxwell. All wore shoulder corsages of pink carnations, gifts of the bride.

Rev. Peter Dawson, of Champion, proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom responded. Mr. and Mrs. Racher left by motor for the West Coast and points in the United States on their honeymoon. The bride travelled in a dark brown, with white pin stripe, two piece frock, a leopard shortie coat and matching pill box hat, brown accessories and an orchid corsage completed her ensemble. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Racher will reside on the groom's farm in the Champion district. Out of town guests were present from Calgary, Hobbema, Carmangay, Ponoka, Warner and Champion.

Secrets of Nature To Be Shown In Sound Film

Using what are probably the first time - compressed colored movies of the photosynthesis of a leaf, preacher-scientist Dr. Irwin A. Moon reveals new secrets of nature in his sound film, "The God of Creation", to be shown at 8:00 p.m., Tuesday (Oct. 26), in the Champion Gospel Mission at Champion, according to the Rev. R. Schneider, pastor.

In the first sequence of "The God of Creation," space and its galaxies of stars are explored through the telescope of Mt. Wilson Observatory. Then, in sharp contrast to the immensities of the universe, the wonders of the everyday world are colorfully portrayed. In this part of the film, plants grow and buds blossom in a few seconds by the time-compressing photo technique. Close-up shots of a caterpillar wiggling into a butterfly are also shown.

For the third part of his film, Dr. Moon permits the audience to examine the minute perfection of the microscopic world. Sunlight falls on leaves, manufacturing plant food in the process of photosynthesis. Through photomicrography, millions of paramecea are seen swimming in a drop of water.

"The God of Creation" is second in a series of evagelistic films being produced by Dr. Moon. It is being shown in churches, schools, and colleges throughout the country by the extension staff of Moody Bible Institute, while special committees in England, Holland, and Germany are handling showings in Europe. Plans are also underway for taking the film to South America and the Orient.

English Journey

BY WALTER R. LEGGE

Article No. 11

Everyone who goes to England is anxious to see some of the bomb damage. Time and workmen are fast healing the scars, so that in some cities, when open spaces are seen, one often does not know whether they are the result of bombing, fires, or just spaces that have never been built on.

In the smaller places and open country the casual observer today would see little or no signs of the late war. After a while, cetain depressions in the fields can be recognized as craters caused by bombs and any resident of a community will readily show where any incidents occurred.

Most of the larger cities still have many signs of bomb damage, although it has been cleared up in some cities more than in others.

There is a vast area of workers homes which can be seen from the trains going from Waterloo station that in 1942 looked pretty awful, with apparently little left but the walls. Today those same houses are all repaired and inhabited, and from the train look the same as any other district of workers' homes. There are many other sections that have been repaired in the same way.

In London, one of the first places that the visitor goes to see is the area around St. Paul's Cathedral, and it has changed very little since I was there in 1942. The miracle of St. Paul's left almost unscathed, while everything around was demolished, can still be really appreciated when seen.

There is much bomb damage to be seen in Liverpool, Manchester, and other places, but Bristol still appeared to me to have the most striking examples of bomb damage. There may be other places with just as much devastation, such as Dover, Coventry, Hull, Portsmouth, etc., but Bristol shows more concentrated damage than other city that I visited on this trip.

If anyone is interested in stories of the war, thousands of them can be collected, for although little is left on the secret list, only a small percentage of the stories have ever been told, in print at any rate.

The chief warden of a large area, almost entirely rural, recounted some of his experiences, and even got out some of his records to give some figures.

It was in this district that one of the most fantastic incidents of the war happened. It has appeared in print before, but is worth telling again. A parachute laid mine was dropped one night, and the parachute caught on the chimney of a large mansion. A maid in the house was not able to sleep all that night on account of the noise of something scraping on the wall outside her window, but she never got up to see what was causing the noise. The next morning it was discovered that a land mine, 10 feet long, was hanging from its parachute caught on the chimney, and it was this mine, swinging back and forth, that had kept her awake.

Almost as fantastic was a similar incident when a land mine fell in a narrow space between two hay stacks, and the parachute held the mine just off the ground.

The wardens and their staffs had a most efficient system by which they were advised of everything that happened in their territory, and were able to get to any spot in a remarkably short space of time. They were also kept advised of progress in other areas.

One night this warden was called to a house that had been bombed. There were two women in the house. An assistant came up to report that it was impossible to get one of the women into the ambulance, so the warden went down to investigate. He found that this woman was suffering from shock and was absolutely rigid in a sitting position, as she had been sitting when the bomb struck. When they pushed her feet down, her head came up, and when they tried to lower her head, her feet came up. The only way that they could get her into the ambulance was by taking out all the shelves.

In another case, a bomb sheared off the side of a house in which two women were staying, and one of the women walked out of the house unharmed.

It was in this area that the largest unexploded bomb fell. It was in a field not far from a town. As was the precedure in such a case, the residents of the neighborhood were evacuated, and the bomb disposal squad started digging for the bomb. They dug down over sixty feet before abandoning the search for the time being. It was later located 84 feet down in the earth.

To give some idea of what England went through during the bombing, it might be mentioned that in this area which covered 84 square miles, mostly rural as mentioned before, there fell 346 high explosives, 9 doodle bugs, 13 parachute mines, and many thousands of incendiary bombs.

The worst experience that this warden had were when planes crashed, and he told of one flying fortress starting out on a mission that crashed with its load of bombs. The plane and its crew of ten were blown into thousands of small pieces.

There is an interesting story about a little hamlet of a few houses that I visited. Early in the war, this hamlet was filled with evacuees from London. Soon after they arrived a number of bombs were dropped in the vicinity, and one bomb demolished a small house at the edge of the hamlet. The evacuees all trouped back to London. They said it was safer there.

One of the most fascinating stories was obtained from a very distant relative who is a survivor of Dunkirk. Like most of those heroes, he was not very anxious to talk about it, but with the help of his wife, we managed to get a few details.

He enlisted at the outbreak of war, and as he had a badly needed trade, he was shipped to France three weeks after he enlisted. When his company started evacuating, his pal was hit in the shoulder so he carried two rifles on a forced march of 16 miles. By the time they reached the beach, it was more or less every man for himself. He and five others found they had for food only one small tin of sausages. One of them managed to steal a small pig, but they had just got it nicely cooked when a small bomb blew it to pieces.

Hearing that there were boats nine miles away, some of them set off to try and reach them. Snipers were firing at them all the way, and the man in front of him was killed. After three days on the beach, he was finally taken off by a boat, but by that time all he had left was his trousers, boots, a tin hat and his wrist watch and he hadn't shaved for four days.

On arrival in England, they were sent north on seventy-two hours leave. As he was destitute, he applied for pay, and in a tone of disgust he said that he finally got 10 shillings.

It would not be difficult to get material to write war stories for a long time to come.

The teacher asked Johnny, who was in the third grade, if the world was round. He answered: "No."

"Is it flat?"

"No."

"If it isn't round and it isn't flat, what is it?"

Johnny looked very confident as he replied: "Daddy says it's crooked!"

VULCAN GRAIN CLUB

On Thursday, October 14 th, the Vulcan Grain Club held their Achievement Day Seed Fair in the Legion Hall at Vulcan with District Agriculturists C. Graham Anderson and Peter Jamieson, and Wheat Pool Fieldman, Mr. Woodrow Wagler, and Mr. Stanley Johnson, Plant Science Teacher, in attendance.

This club is under the leadership of Mr. Ross Walker and has had a very active season holding several meetings, having a field day, and organizing a trip to Brooks Horticultural Station.

The Seed Fair, however, was not as well attended as might have been expected for one reason or another and next year, it is to be hoped, that more members will carry their project through to completion. The Top Sample of Grain was shown by Glen Graham and was a sample of outstanding color and quality. In a season when Red Bobs Wheat has been showing up very bad with starchy kernels it was nice to see the top sample at the Junior Club Show representing what top wheat should be like. The awards were as follows:

1st.	Glen Graham
2nd.	Melbourne Dunham
3rd.	Donald Marshman
	Darrel Maisey
	Ralph Richardson
	Dave Jantzie
	John Kaiser
	Bryan Todd
	Russel Smith
	Donald Roebuck
	Ralph Walker
	Norman Jacobson
	Walter Roebuck

The Grain Judging Competition was won by Darrel Maisey, 1st. and Melbourne Dunham, 2nd.

At the conclusion of the judging Mr. Wagler showed some interesting films, including a film taken of the activities at the Junior Grain Club Week held at the Olds School of Agriculture. The winner of the trip to Olds Club Week, from this club, will be announced later.

A general meeting of the Club to discuss plans for the 1949 season is being planned for some date in December.

ALSTON GRAIN CLUB:

The Seed Fair and Achievement Day of the Alston Grain Club was held on Wednesday, October the 13th, at the Alston Community Hall, under the supervision of the local District Agriculturist, Peter Jamieson, assisted by Mr. Woodrow Wagler, Fieldman for the Alberta Wheat Pool. Mr. C. Graham Anderson, District Agriculturist of Calgary, was official judge for the occasion.

There was a splendid offering of samples of grain from the members, every plot being represented, and some well prepared samples were exhibited. This club is under the leadership of Mr. Brown MacDonald and is in its first year of operation. It was started last winter at a meeting held by the Alston Junior U.F.A.

The placings were as follows:

1st.	Hartley MacDonald
2nd.	Fred Reath
3rd.	Jack Middleton
	Barry Middleton
	Jerry Strauss
	James Strauss
	Douglas Beingessner
	Steve Plytka

The Grain Judging Competition was won by Barry and John Middleton, who finished with an equal good top score.

After the judging competition, Mr. Wagler gave a showing of films and complimented the members and their leader on behalf of the Wheat Pool.

Mr. Anderson gave an interesting talk on "Accident Prevention and Safety First."

A woman missed her gloves as she was leaving the restaurant where she had dined with her husband. Asking him to wait, she hurried back to look for them, searching first on the table and finally lifting the cloth to peer under it. Just then a waiter hurried up to her.

"Pardon me, madam," he said "but the gentleman is over there by the door."

Paint Special

There is one and only one brand of paint that has stood out in a class by itself for outstanding quality and real lasting colors down through the years. Your great-grandfather used this paint — it was the best then and it is the best today. You can drive through the towns and countryside and pick out these paint jobs — they look better after ten to fifteen years than many jobs that are ony two or three years old, and if you would take the trouble to look into prices, it retails for less money than many inferior paints. They are the largest paint manufacturers in the world and make and mill every ingredient, including linseed oil, that goes into their paints.

We carry around an $8000.00 stock of these paints. There is a lot of good painting weather left this fall or you can buy it for next year's work, for if it is used on barns and outbuildings it is deductible from your income tax, but not on your house. There is nothing that will increase the value and looks of your buildings like a good coat of paint. In the years to come have something to show where you put some of the 1948 easy money.

Up and until December 1st, 1948, we will supply you paint needs at a reduction of 10% on the Calgary retail prices. Please also note that we have the lowest prices on genuine Simms Paint Brushes in the province. "It's up to you." This is a very special offer to reduce our stocks and save you real money on real quality Paints.

Gov't Disposes Of War Plants

Virtually all the industrial buildings constructed or financed directly by the Crown during the war have now been disposed of permanently or temporarily. Of their 33.5 million square feet of floor space, 84 per cent has been more or less permanently disposed of through sale to industry, transfered to government departments or to Crown corporations, or has been dismanteled or demolished. An additional 15 per cent has been leased to industry, in part of a multiple tenancy basis, or temporarily transferred to the War Assets Corporation for war surplus storage purposes. The balance of only one per cent is now available for disposal. The Canadian government financed the constructon of 170 new plants during the war at a cost of over $200 million, excludng an expenditure of $500 million on equipment.

The plants turned over to private ndustry and being adapted to peacetime production are expected to employ more than 50,000 people. They will be turning out almost every type of manufactured product, including automobiles, airplanes, communications and electrical equipment, paper and wood products, chemicals, pharmaceuticals, plumbing and heating equipment, and textiles. Many of these commodities are being produced in Canada for the first time, and are thus contributing to the diversification of Canadian industry and the maintainance of a high level of employment.

Everyone in Canada should be X-rayed annually for tuberculosis, because early discovery of the disease means early recovery. Mass X-ray surveys are financed largely through the sale of Christmas Seals.
